HAPPY TRAILS

The Retirement of Rick Roche

This March, Thomas Ford Memorial Library bids farewell to Western Springs' favorite reference librarian, Rick Roche. Rick will be retiring after 24 years at Thomas Ford, 15 of them leading our Adult Services Department.

In that time Rick has helped guide the Library through changes and innovations while always maintaining a strong emphasis on service to the community. He has developed and hosted some of our most popular events—including Friday at the Ford and Evening at the Opera—published two books about biographies, and become an invaluable resource for Western Springs. When asked about his accomplishments Rick is characteristically humble: "Nothing is done alone here at Thomas Ford. I feel most proud of hiring a parade of young and enthusiastic public service librarians who helped us modernize in an increasingly digital world."

We will all miss Rick's presence at our Reference Desk, his warmth and his passion for his work, but can take heart that his well-earned retirement will be put to good use. "I plan to spend most days as if I am on vacation," Rick says, "traveling, bird watching, gardening, reading books, and visiting family and lifelong friends." A guest book will be available in which community members can share written farewell messages and memories with Rick.

It is a full evening of song.

Held at the acoustically pleasing First Congregational Church of Western Springs, the concert also serves as an introduction to the stories of opera. # The Ford Member Connection

"The Ford Member Connection" spotlights a Library member in every issue. Please let us know whom you'd like to read about.

How long have you and your wife, Judy, lived in Western Springs? Judy and I have lived in Western Springs for almost 13 years. My sister and her family had moved here and enjoyed the warmth of the people in the community and all that Western Springs has to offer. That's what we were looking for and we love living here in Springdale.

You and Judy are runners; please share your thoughts on running and physical fitness in general. Running is a great stress reliever and is an exercise that I can shoehorn into my schedule. Judy and I have our usual routes and I'm always amazed at how many people recognize us when we're running. This area is wonderful for running and we always look forward to the Tower Trot. Keeping fit is helpful for everyone's physical and mental health, but as a diabetic it is especially important for me.

You taught American Government at the college level and are a trained engineer; what led you into politics? Since I was very young I was taught at home, in school, and at church that I should use my talents to make a positive difference in the world. My first activism was when I was 11 years old;

Congressman Dan Lipinski

my friend John and I collected signatures on a petition we created that asked the Japanese government to stop their tuna fishermen from killing dolphins. Jumping forward ten plus years, I felt a calling to take my two engineering degrees and move into the field of education. I figured I should go into the area that interested me the most and that was American politics. After getting my Ph.D. in political science and teaching as an assistant professor for a few years, I still felt I could do more. When my father retired from Congress, I decided to run.

When you visit the Thomas Ford Memorial Library, what kinds of books are you likely to check out? My love for learning – which helped inspire me to go into teaching – is why I love libraries and all that they have to offer. I mostly check out non-fiction books, although I keep telling myself I should read more fiction. Judy is in a book club so she often uses the library to get those books. We also like to check out movies. Judy and I don't go out to movies that often; we prefer to watch them at home while we eat dinner and relax. As a former college professor, I hate to say this, but I don't read many books cover-to-cover anymore. I read a tremendous amount but it is mostly shorter pieces.

Can you comment on the importance of public libraries in Illinois? I have always loved to read and libraries are providing expanded access for everyone. The interlibrary loan system and eBooks are two great ways that this is being accomplished. I appreciate what is done for members at Thomas Ford and all libraries, especially as technology changes and expectations increase. I know it isn't easy.
